Pennsylvania’s State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) Offices of Academic Affairs, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, and Student Affairs are pleased to announce the 2024 PASSHE Summit will be held October 28 - 29, 2024. Once again, the Summit will be a hybrid conference. In-person sessions will be held at Millersville University and virtual/hybrid sessions will be held on Zoom.
The Summit aims to advance student success and aligns with PASSHE’s mission-driven priorities: 1) Faculty, Staff, and Student Diversity; 2) Equitable Student Outcomes; 3) Inclusive Communities; 4) Curriculum Diversity; and 5) Enabling Infrastructure. This year's Summit theme is "Uniting for Inclusive Student Success," which provides an opportunity to explore policies, practices, research, partnerships, and related matters that impact inclusive student success.

PASSHE defines inclusion as those actions that foster feelings of being respected, valued, embraced in the curriculum, co-curriculum, and university community. An inclusive State System is one where all admitted and enrolled students feel a sense of belonging. PASSHE’s Board-approved student success metrics include, but are not limited to, graduation rates, persistence rates, credit completion ratios, and participation in high impact practices.

The Summit aims to serve as a dynamic platform for dialogue, reflection, learning, and collaboration, centered on the theme of inclusive student success. We invite students, faculty, staff, administrators, Board members, trustees, and other PASSHE stakeholders to think together about how to cultivate and maintain environments that promote inclusive student success. We encourage faculty and staff to collaborate with students. We also welcome proposals that address the theme from a wide range of perspectives, life experiences, and academic disciplines.

Topics for sessions can include but are not limited to:

- Inclusive pedagogy
- Policies and student success
- Curriculum diversity and student success
- Inclusive high-impact practices
- Using data to inform student success strategies
- Course Redesign
- Examining DFWI trends from a DEI lens
- Sharing Courses, Faculty, Opportunities
- Inclusive Learning for Democracy and Civic Engagement
- Student Transfer Transformed

*A garden’s beauty never lies in one flower." ~ Matshona Dhliwayo

PASSHE’s eighty-four thousand amazing and diverse students symbolize our beautiful garden. They are the essence of our ‘why’!
Proposal Submission Guidelines

Session Types
There are five session categories to which you can submit a proposal. Prior to submitting a proposal, review the descriptions to determine which session category best suits your work. In the submission, you must select the session category for which you are submitting a proposal.

1. Best Practices Session (45 minutes; maximum of three presenters): Best Practices Sessions should highlight practical insights and knowledge from a practice-focused inquiry project. It should also provide a thoughtful engagement with the context, history, and motivations for the project to help attendees understand the ways this project and its insights are relevant and applicable to other contexts. Presenters should plan to allot at least 10 minutes for a discussion with the audience.

2. Research Talk (45 minutes; maximum of three presenters): Research Talks should focus on a particular research project (its context, questions, methodology, and results) or a conceptual project. Research studies do not have to be complete but should be far enough along to present preliminary results. Presenters should plan to allot at least 10 minutes for a discussion with the audience.

3. Panel Discussion (75 minutes; maximum of five presenters and one facilitator): Panel Discussions should be a themed session that includes multiple presenters (but no more than 5) discussing relevant research, theory, and/or practice related to that theme. Presenters should allot at least 15 minutes for discussion with the audience.

4. Interactive Workshop (75 minutes; maximum of five presenters): Workshops should create a structured and engaging space for attendees to interact with specific ideas and practices. These proposals should be explicit about their topic, how the sessions will be interactive for the audience, and what workshop takeaways will be.

5. Poster & Multimedia Session: Posters, videos, or other multimedia projects should highlight initiatives that are furthering diversity, equity, and inclusion goals. Each poster or multimedia project should visually highlight a particular project, its process, and its outcomes. Projects can be research or practice focused. Projects can describe what your student organization has done or plans to do.

Submission Procedure & Requirements

- After reading the submission procedure and requirements, please submit your proposals online through the Whova submission form (click here)!
- Applications must be completed and submitted on or before Thursday, September 5, 2024, to be reviewed.
